Taxation

Companies in The Netherlands are usually confronted with the following taxes:

- corporations and foundations are subject to corporate income tax (Vennootschapsbelasting);
- dividends paid to shareholders of corporations are taxed with Dividend tax (dividendbelasting);
- partnerships between natural persons and sole proprietorships are subject to personal income tax (Inkomstenbelasting);
- employees wages are taxed with a salary tax to be paid by the employer (loonbelasting);
- all business operations are subject to the Value Added Tax or VAT (Omzetbelasting).

These taxes are all collected by the government body Belastingdienst

• Lesser common taxes include: excise taxes and import turnover tax; These taxes are collected by the government body Douane (customs).

Tax	Feature	Remarks
Corporate Income Tax (Vennoots- chapsbelasting)	The standard corporate income tax rate is 15 percent on all taxable gains up to EUR 395,000 and 25,8% above 395.00 of the corporation, whether retained or distributed profits. However, once profits are distributed to the shareholders, these must pay personal income tax on the dividends.	Once the corporate gains exceed EUR 200,000 the tax rate becomes 25,0 percent
Personal Income Tax (Inkomstenbelas- ting)	The rate of personal income tax starts at 37,1 percent and rises to the maximum personal income tax rate of 49,50 percent, which is applicable to earnings of EUR 68,507 or more. Deductions (mortgage payments, life a nnuity and disability insurance, alimony, etc.) are available for residents and some non-residents who choose to be taxed as a Dutch resident.	Tax bonuses are available for working people, disabled people, couples, single parents and couples with children. Furthermore there are bonuses for people investing money in social and green investments and for people taking leave. Mostly Dutch resident taxation only.
Personal Inco- me Tax in case of partnerships	As partnerships are not separate legal entities but associations of partners, the partners themselves generally are subject to the personal income tax, with the individual tax rate applicable to each partner. Depending on the agreed division of the companies gains, each partner pays his own personal income tax as mentioned above.
Dividends tax (Dividendbelas- ting)	All dividends paid to shareholders of corporations are subject to the dividends tax with a tax rate of 15 percent to be paid by the corporation.	The shareholder has to declare these gains in his personal income tax, where these gains will be taxed at 26,25 percent. The 15 percent paid by the corporation will be deducted from this 26,25 percent.
Value Added Tax (VAT) (Omzetbelasting)	The normal VAT rate is 21 percent, a lower rate of 9 percent is charged for convenience goods and services needed on a day-to-day basis, such as food, books and newspapers or public transport. Some services, including banking, healthcare, and non-profit work, are VAT-exempt. For certain services rendered by a foreign entrepreneur, the reversecharge-system has to be applied.	Each entrepreneur can apply for a VAT-Identification- number, which is particularly necessary for intra-EU supplies and services.

Real Estate Trans- fer Tax (Overdra- chtsbe- lasting)	When domestic real estate changes owner, a one-time real estate transfer tax of 2% of the purchase price has to be paid, usually by the buyer. New build property is tax exempt from the real estate transfer tax, but is charged with VAT.Commercial real estate transfer tax is 8%.
Real Estate Property Tax (On-roerende zaak belasting)	Every property owner in The Netherlands is annually liable to real estate tax. The tax rate depends on the town the property is in. The municipal administration assesses the value of the property and collects the taxes.
Non-resident Ta- xation	Non-resident individuals and companies in Holland receiving income generated in Holland, are subject to Dutch limited ta- xation with their Dutch-sourced income. Double taxation of this income is avoided by double taxation agreements between Holland and other countries. In case of a non-resident company the tax treatment depends on its kind of income.
	For individuals the deduction of expenses is only allowed if and to the extent these expenses are economically related to the taxable revenues. These limitations put taxpayers with a limited tax liability in Holland in a disadvantageous position compared with individuals who are subject to unlimited Dutch taxation.
	However, individuals who are subject to limited taxation in Holland can apply for unlimited taxation if they have income which is subject to Dutch taxation.
